

Abstract of the Disclosure

A computing system and encryption/decryption method realizes assurance of security and improvement of throughput in a remote system. For this purpose, encrypted data is written to a storage system, it is determined whether data in the storage system is ciphertext or plaintext, and encrypted data is read, decrypted and re-written in storage asynchronously with writing encrypted data to storage.

09/ 810 575